ABSTRACT

In 1990, a study was conducted of graduates of the Community College of Rhode Island (CCRI) to determine their educational and career pursuits after leaving CCRI. Survey responses were obtained from 975 of the 1,213 CCRI graduates from 1989, constituting an 80% response rate. Study findings for the class as a whole indicated that of the 975 respondents, 47.1% were employed full time, 13.0% were employed full time and attending school part time, 8.2% were employed part time, 2.5% were unavailable for employment, 2.3% were unemployed and looking for employment, 14.9% were attending school full time, and 12.1% were full-time students and working part time. This report of survey results is divided into separate sections for each of CCRI's 24 programs and program areas. For each program, data are provided on the numbers and percentages of students responding to the survey and in each employment and educational category. In addition, data are provided on the average annual salary of employed graduates for each program, the salary range, the names of the organizations employing the graduates, the graduates' job titles, and the educational institutions and academic majors of graduates who were continuing their education full time. A diagram of CCRI programs and concentrations; the survey instrument; tables comparing 1987, 1988, and 1989 graduates' employment status and educational institution of transfer; and bar graphs summarizing the data for selected programs are appended. COMMUNITY COLLEGE OF RHODE ISLAND

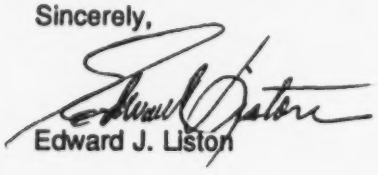
Community College of Rhode Island
REPORT ON CAREER PLACEMENT
AND EXTERNAL TRANSFER
OF 1989 GRADUATES

A message from the President

The Report on Career Placement and External Transfer of 1989 Graduates is used to identify the educational goals and career directions of Community College of Rhode Island graduates. It provides information about the employment status and salary ranges of those graduates who elected full-time employment as well as a listing of colleges and universities chosen by those who went on to continue their education on a full-time basis. The information provided in this report helps us in advising current students as well as in our recruitment of prospective students. This report is also a valuable resource for guidance counselors in secondary schools throughout the state, for businesses and industries that are potential employers of our graduates, and most importantly for students and parents to use as an educational and career decision-making aid. The Community College is proud of its placement and transfer record. I'm sure that you will find the information contained in this report impressive as well as useful.

Sincerely,



Edward J. Liston

In order to obtain information contained in this report, a survey was conducted by the Office of Career Services on a continuous basis from January, 1990 through May, 1990. A questionnaire was mailed to all 1989 graduates and there was an initial response rate of 37%. A follow-up telephone survey produced an additional yield of 43%, for a total of 80% responding. A sample of the questionnaire used is contained in the Appendix of this report. A summation of the survey results shows that 60% of the graduates are employed, 27% of the graduates are continuing their education, 2.5% are unavailable for employment, and 2% of the graduates continue to seek employment. Average salaries, based on a forty hour work week, are indicated for each program. A further breakdown of these statistics can be found within the report.
